

It's estimated that the cost of a college education for a child born today is upwards of 250 thousand dollars. Here at SVA Plumb Wealth Management, we can help make that number seem a little less scary. Whether your children are aged 8 months to 18 years old, we'll work with you to put together an appropriate savings plan to make sure you feel comfortable with covering the cost of that college education for your children. We have many tools available to us as professional financial planners to help put together an appropriate strategy to make sure we meet your education funding goals.
